Best Practices in Technology Transfer for Bioprocesses

Biopharm International Live Interview, Bio 2010 Conference · May 6, 2010

Selecting a strategic outsourcing partner goes far beyond a checklist of their capacity, capabilities, and cost. A company should thoroughly assess all of the risks associated with that partnership, develop the appropriate remediation plans and contingencies with the potential partner, and agree to jointly manage those risks to successful outcomes. Conducting a thorough and intelligent risk-based due diligence, performed as a shared exercise with the outsource partner, can identify key areas of...

Recommendations

A preview of what LinkedIn members have to say about Bill:

- “ I had the pleasure of orchestrating a website and video project for Bill when he was with Midwest Stainless Process Systems. He was the kind of client who knew what he wanted to accomplish with his projects and at the same time provided opportunity for the people skilled in building websites and producing videos to offer recommendations how best to accomplish those goals. Terrific to do business with.

he brings to the table. He is fun to work with. In meetings with potential clients, I observed that Bill was quickly able to build trust and use that as a basis for collaborative work and problem solving with clients.
